

CAMBRAI CAPTURED BY THE BRITISH, WITH 8,000 PRISONERS LAST VESTIGE OF VAUNTED HINDENBURG LINE OBLITERATED

GERMAN LOSSES IN LAST FIERCE STRUGGLE RUN FAR INTO TENS OF THOUSANDS

Vast Maze of Entanglements Barring the Way to Open Country is Wiped Out by the Battling American, British and French Forces.

YANKEES AT DOORS OF BOHAIN, RAILWAY CENTER

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The city of Cambrai has been captured by the British with 8,000 prisoners. Field Marshal Haig announced the capture of this long resisting German stronghold in his official statement today.

The Anglo-American attack was resumed this morning on the entire front south of Cambrai, Field Marshal Haig reported. Rapid progress was being made.

Last night additional progress was made east of Sequehart and towards Bohain and Maretz.

South of Cambrai the British captured Foreville and reached the western outskirts of Walincourt. The attack this morning was on the front of the third and fourth armies and began at 5:20 o'clock.

HINDENBURG LINE GONE.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The Hindenburg line no longer bars the path of the Allies. The definite rupture of it was achieved on the first day of the fighting in the new development towards the north of the great battle now raging from the Escaut to the Meuse.

To Anglo-Saxon forces went the honor of storming the last remnants of the extraordinary maze of defenses, in some places 12 miles in depth between Cambrai and St. Quentin. Apart from this achievement the results of the day's fighting were notable in that the enemy's losses must have run into tens of thousands of men during the day's fighting in the various sectors of the long battlefield. In addition important strategic objects were obtained.

The Allies now are in the open country on the Cambrai-St. Quentin front and are threatening Bohain, an important junction of roads and railways, the Americans last night having pushed within two miles of that place. Once the masters of Bohain the Allies, should they push towards Guise, would take in the rear not only of the Laon-St. Gobain massif but the positions along the River Fere called by the Germans the Handling line, which joins at Chaumont-Porcien the Brunhilde line running along the Aisne.

ENEMY SMOTHERED UNDER

BRITISH-AMERICAN FIRE
WITH THE ANGLO-AMERICAN ARMY NEAR ST. QUENTIN, Oct. 9.—Heavy fighting continued throughout the night on the Cambrai-St. Quentin front and the British and Americans continued their progress of Tuesday under a heavy protective fire from the British artillery. The defeated enemy was almost smothered under the great deluge of steel and explosives.

A large number of guns have been captured by the British and Americans in addition to the great batches of prisoners which continue to arrive at the cages. The American troops alone captured two complete field batteries and a battery of heavy artillery.

The Americans captured these guns Tuesday afternoon when they suddenly outflanked both ends of the valley south of Fremont, capturing all the German guns there.

German reinforcements have arrived but as the troops have been engaged several times recently their presence merely adds to the confusion in the enemy ranks.

On the front of the two British armies engaged elements from no fewer than 29 enemy divisions have been identified along the 20-mile fighting line. Such concentration of troops seems almost incredible until it is realized that some of the divisions have been engaged almost continuously since August 3 and many are mere shadows of the old organizations.

The ground over which the great battle has been fought is covered with dead. Many Germans are buried under tons of earth in collapsed dugouts. Only a few of the prisoners captured had heard of the Anglo-German plea for an armistice and their fates on the subject were extremely hazy.

From all sources it is learned for a virtual certainty that no formidable wire barriers are ahead of the British and Americans until the Valenciennes line is reached and after that the line of the Meuse river.

RESISTANCE STRONG ON

AMERICAN FRONT
LONDON, Oct. 9.—(1:15 P. M.)—The British advance along the battle front between Cambrai and St. Quentin is proceeding very well today all along the line. There is not so much resistance by the Germans as there was yesterday. This probably is due to the Germans having retired during

"NO ARMISTICE" MEETS APPROVAL OF THE ARMIES

By Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, Oct. 9.—President Wilson's reply to the German peace proposal reached the rear lines of the American army this morning. It had been eagerly awaited, its possible character having been widely discussed. The general tone of the rank and file comment was a quiet satisfaction that no armistice would be granted while the enemy's troops were on Allied soil.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—With the German peace offensive met and halted unless the enemy actually is ready to sue for peace on American and Allied terms, President Wilson today turned his attention to the battlefield where the once conquering Teutonic armies are being driven back to their own soil. He walked over to Secretary Lansing's office at the State Department and met for General March, who appeared with a huge military map of the west front.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—(Havas)—Paris regards the news from the front as indicating a general giving way of the German line—a collapse, piece by piece of the enemy's positions and a crumbling away of his army, regiment by regiment, and division by division. It is regarded that this hour is not the one in which a respite should be granted the Germans and the suggestion is heard that no request of the kind can be listened to until the enemy has withdrawn a half dozen miles or more beyond the French and Belgian borders.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—In diplomatic circles here President Wilson's reply to the peace proposals of Prince Maximilian, the Imperial German chancellor, is regarded as clever and logical.

GERMANY PLAYING FOR TIME TO REST TROOPS SAYS FRENCH CRITIC

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Tuesday, Oct. 9.—General J. M. G. Maitre, the military critic for the Temps, has written a letter from the front saying that the German armies are at the end of their strength and that the German high command is hoping to save them.

"An armistice even with the obligation to evacuate invaded territory and Alsace Lorraine," he continued, "would allow the German command to withdraw its armies in security to a distance sufficient to give time to reform the ranks in preparation for the moment when Berlin will denounce the Allies' conditions as impossible."

KILLED BY TROLLEY CAR

MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 9.—Driving from his farm between Hecla and Middle Churches toward Mount Pleasant this morning Silas Nunnemaker, 30 years old, was killed instantly when the car leaving here at 9:15 o'clock for Greensburg and running late struck his Ford on a crossroad, hurling Nunnemaker against a pole and crushing his skull. Coroner James S. Hawkins was riding on the trolley car.

The body was brought to Mount Pleasant and removed to Zimmerman's morgue. Nunnemaker leaves a wife and three children.

Members of Company G of this city will participate in the event when it is started.

Explanation of German Note Sought; Armistice is Refused

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The text of the communication headed to the charge of Switzerland here follows:

"Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge, on behalf of the President, your note of October sixth, enclosing the communication from the German government to the President; and I am instructed by the President to request you to make the following communication to the Imperial German chancellor:

"Before making reply to the request of the Imperial German government, and in order that that reply shall be as candid and straightforward as the momentous interests involved require, the President of the United States deems it necessary to assure himself that the Imperial German government accepts the terms laid down by the President in his address to the Congress of the United States on the eighth of January last and in subsequent addresses and that its object in entering into discussions would be only to agree upon the practical details of their application."

"The President feels bound to say with regard to the suggestion of an armistice that he would not feel at liberty to propose a cessation of arms to the governments with which the Government of the United States is associated against the central powers, so long as the armies of those powers are upon their soil. The good faith of any discussion would manifestly depend upon the consent of the central powers immediately to withdraw their forces everywhere from invaded territory."

"The President also feels that he is justified in asking whether the Imperial German government is speaking merely for the constituted authorities of the empire who have so far conducted the war, or deems the answer to these questions vital from every point of view."

"Accept, sir, the renewed assurances of my high consideration."

TO OPEN HOSPITAL FOR RAILROAD MEN WITH INFLUENZA

Arrangements Made to Use Part of Old Hyndman Building.

RAILROADERS STRICKEN

Two Collapse on Runs and Are Brought to Their Quarters Here; Many Cases of the Milder Form of Grip Are Reported Over the Town.

Because of the spread of influenza among railroad men arrangements are being made by the Board of Health through Dr. W. H. Wideman, head of the local Baltimore & Ohio medical staff, to open an emergency hospital in the old Hyndman building in Water street, Dr. T. R. Francis, president of the board, announced today.

Two more cases of the genuine Spanish malady came before the attention of Dr. Francis yesterday, both victims being railroad men who collapsed on their runs. One was taken to his home at South Connellsville. The other patient, named Gerber, is at a boarding house.

Many mild cases are under the attention of the physicians in the city, and a few reports of "very bad" cases are being made.

The school attendance is about the same, there being a small additional decrease in the attendance. Teachers are careful to watch children with coughs and send them home as a preventive measure.

To safeguard patients at the College State hospital it has been deemed wise to bar visitors with the relatives of patients seriously ill. There are no cases of influenza at the hospital.

STAMP SALES $936

Students Buy Many Baby Bonds in the Various Schools.

War Savings Stamp sales in the schools yesterday amounted to $936.13 a slight falling off from the more than $1,000 worth, which were sold last week. The Fourth ward and South Side schools led in the sale reporting a total of $394.52.

In the high school students purchased a total of $287.15 in stamps and sales amounting to $201.94 were reported in the Second and Third wards. The Crawford school students on the West Side reported $142.21 purchased.

GAS SHELLS HIT DRESSING STATION OF 110TH MEDICAL DETACHMENT, LETTERS SAY

B. & O. BUYS THE MACCABEE HALL FOR A Y. M. C. A.

Sum of $46,000 Paid for South Pittsburg Street Property.

DEAL CONCLUDED TODAY

Macabees Will Give Possession in Short Time and May Erect a New Home When Conditions Permit; H. G. Batten Represents the Lodge.

The home of Tenth Tent No. 159, Knights of the Macabees, was sold this morning to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company for use as a Y. M. C. A. for the railroad employees. The deal was closed through G. N. Durnell, real estate agent. H. G. Batten represented the Macabees lodge and Assistant Real Estate Agent McMahon the railroad company. The consideration was $46,000.

The purchase of the property by the railroad company for use as a "Y" has been under consideration for some time. Officials from Baltimore have been here to inspect the plant and they expressed themselves as being in favor of the proposition. The company felt that a "Y" at this place, a terminal of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville divisions, and with yards located here, would be a good thing. The building before going into the hands of the Macabees was the property of the Y. M. C. A. association of this city, for which purpose it was erected. It has a large dormitory and will make rooms available for railroad men who have to remain in this city over night.

The sale goes in effect immediately, and the Macabees will move out in a short time. The lodge has no immediate plans for a new location, although it is likely that for the time a temporary home will be occupied. The lodge may either purchase a building and remodel it or erect an entire new home.

If the influenza epidemic strikes Connellsville the first use of the building by the railroad company will probably be to turn it into an emergency hospital. Although no such arrangements have yet been made the conversion of the dormitory into wards could be done quickly.

JOHN BARLEYCORN PROCURABLE ONLY FROM DRUGGISTS

State Health Commissioner Instructs Health Board to See That the Influenza Order is Obeyed.

A communication from B. Franklin Royer, acting commissioner of health, has been received by A. O. Bixler, secretary of the Board of Health, instructing the local health authorities to see that the orders issued Saturday regarding the closing of bars and amusement places, including the clubs are carried out.

The supplemental order concerning the sale of liquors says that provision can be made for the sale through drug stores on registered physicians' prescriptions of alcoholic stimulants, which are being used by some doctors in treatment of influenza cases.

"Consult with the leading medical men and make provision for sale through drug stores on registered physician's prescriptions of alcoholic stimulants, and make provision for wholesale and bottling houses to supply retail needs for this purpose alone."

"These orders need not prohibit wholesale shipments of alcoholic beverages to points outside of Pennsylvania."

"Where wholesalers, bottlers, clubs or fraternal organizations fail to comply with Saturday's proclamation concerning the sale of alcoholic beverages close them forthwith and where necessary placard as follows: 'Closed by order of the Commissioner of Health.'"

"Place all dealers on their honor to obey the regulation. If any break faith, consult with your solicitors, take drastic action, notify the district attorney and licensing judge, notify the State Board of Pharmacy and his office."

Wounding of Major McKee and Others Thus Accounted For.

IN HOSPITAL NEAR PARIS

Letters From Charles McCormick and Others of the Detachment Tell How It Happened; Name of William Martray Has Been Added to the List.

According to letters received here by the families and friends of members of the 110th Regiment Medical Detachment, who were reported yesterday as having been wounded on September 9, all have been taken to an American Red Cross hospital near Paris. From the letters it was learned that the men were gassed; but all report themselves getting along well.

In addition to the telegrams stating that Major R. S. McKee, Sergeant Charles McCormick and Privates William Struble and George McCormick were wounded, Frank Martray, father of William Martray, also of the Medical Detachment, has received a telegram bearing the same news. Martray was also wounded on September 9, the telegram states.

Writing to friends here on September 14, Sergeant "Dut" McCormick says five shells hit the dressing station where the hospital unit was located and caught them without gas masks on. McCormick says he was blinded and when he recovered he was in Paris, the entire division having been moved out. He says he is able to be about the hospital, has been in Paris on one trip and is ready for another. McCormick does not mention any names in his letter but says "they brought us back here on a Red Cross train."

Writing to his father on September 16, the day after he was reported to have been wounded, Martray says his injuries are only slight. In the letter he said he expected to be sent to Paris in a few days, adding that the division would probably go on review there. "You know that means a good time and I'll be in it," he says. J. E. Struble received two letters from his son, William Struble, last night, both of which were written from Paris. "Bill" says he is recovering from the effects of the gas, and that his throat and eyes are improving. He tells of being in the hospital with William Martray.

Word was received yesterday by Mrs. Costanza Pockstaller of Morrell that her son, Nick Pockstaller, had been severely wounded in action. He is with the Coast Artillery. The telegram says he was injured on August 2. His mother received a letter from him some time ago, dated August 18, in which he told of being transferred from southern France to the north.

A letter received today by Mrs. T. D. Miller, mother of Dewey Miller, also with the 110th Medical Detachment, written on September 11, says he was slightly gassed and is in a hospital in Paris. It had been rumored here that Miller was coming home but the letter received by Mrs. Miller shows the report to be without foundation.

PSYCHOLOGY OF WAR ON WOMEN'S CLOTHES

The Girl in Uniform.
Every war has had its influence upon women's clothes. Sometimes it has been a color that has sprung into fashion with the bugle call to arms, sometimes it is a feather, as the coque feather; sometimes it is a brand and a military swing to the lines of a suit or dress.
Before the United States entered the war Russian Cossack suits, coque feathers, braided jackets, snappy suits with a military dash to them that almost sang "Listen to the band" were the vogue. War muffs, fabulous in price, but economical in fur, French blue, brass buttons and any number of adoptions from male military attire were seized upon by Paris designers and shipped to America as the style.
But since the United States entered the war American women have joined the workers of the world. The influence of war on their clothes was first noticed when feathers began to disappear and the Russian Cossack suit and high French toque gave place to the plain American tailored suit with sensible pockets and the useful sailor hat.

MOUNT PLEASANT BOARD OF HEALTH BACKS OFFICERS

Stand in Closing and Locking Fraternal Club Room Sustained.

CHURCHES REMAIN OPEN

Motion to Suspend All Religious Activities on Sundays is Voted Down; Hotelman Who Sold Liquor Agrees to Pay the Costs in the Case.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 8.—After discussion of the locking of the door of the Elks' club rooms by President J. W. Shelar and Secretary M. A. King when the club is alleged to have ignored the order to close the Board of Health at a meeting last evening sustained the officers and ordered that the lock remain there until the Spanish influenza closing order is lifted. It developed that in closing the door the Board of Health had cut off access by the Citizens Savings & Trust company to a vault in which some of its papers are stored. It was agreed that the company shall have access to the vault at any time, but the lock is to be replaced after each visit.
Attention was given almost exclusively to the order of State Commissioner of Health B. Franklin Royer and its effects on the town. In the absence of Health Officer C. H. Jaquette from town Burgess Stevens was asked to appoint Chief of Police Robert Smith acting health officer. Chief Smith has been acting in this capacity and at the direction of the board he and the president and secretary of the board had placarded all places of amusement, the hotel bars and clubs and lodge rooms.
A motion to close public schools and Sunday schools and the churches was lost and they will remain open. The churches, however, will be notified to have no meetings during the week.
Terrence Donnelly, who was charged with having sold liquor at his hotel in violation of the Royer order, was before the board to explain that he thought he was within the law in dispensing as he had done. He said he had interpreted the order to prohibit the gathering of crowds and felt that if on a time came to his place he was privileged to supply them. He said he had consulted his attorney and had been advised he was right.
President Shelar asked him if, in event of the board dealing leniently with him, he would be willing to pay the costs. He replied he would not if it placed him in the light of being guilty of violation of the law. He was asked if he had sold liquor from the bar and replied that he had. Dr. Shelar held that such being the case it was a matter of dealing leniently or severely with him. Mr. Donnelly stated he would pay the costs and left the meeting. It was decided not to prosecute the case further. An information had been made against the hotelman before Justice J. R. Walker and the hearing was to have been held last night but was postponed on account of the illness of the justice.
It was made known at the meeting that the information preferred against the Board of Health officials by members of the Elks' club charges trespass. No disposition has been made of this case either.

Blue Triangle Series.
Miss Mary Dingman, who is at the head of Y. W. C. A. work with French women munition workers. Miss Dingman is wearing the official uniform of the Y. W. C. A. as was worn in France.

With its bit of a ribbon and no fur-lows.
Women are showing in their clothes that when they work they must dress accordingly. Hence the new demand for uniforms.

Everywhere women are adopting uniforms as an answer to the vexing question of "What shall I wear to work?" The suits of the women conductors, women farmers, signal corps girls, and the recently adopted uniform of the Young Women's Christian Association all point to a new simplicity and beauty in clothes for women in this country.

The Y. W. C. A. has designed a uniform peculiarly adaptable to the needs of a woman in business. It is a uniform that combines common sense and utility with undeniable style. It is already known in France for overseas work.

The coat is finger length and belted, with big Kitchener pockets that are a joy. There is also an inside safety pocket. The insignia—Y. W. C. A.—stitched on a black bar within a blue triangle, is embroidered on the sleeve and on the shoulder. The skirt is plain, full at the back and belted with slit pockets. It hangs seven inches from the floor. A black tricorner hat of silk with a velvet facing is adorned with the insignia embroidered on a French blue gros-grain band. Silk and velvet have been used to conserve wool. The color of the uniform is soft grey-blue. An aster goes with the suit in cold weather.

The Y. W. C. A. is advocating sensible dress for women does not think it advisable at this time for women in the business world as a whole to go into uniform. But the Association does suggest that girls and women for the duration of the war dress with simplicity and economy as their first consideration. The present tendency of the times to put all war workers, directly or indirectly connected with the government, into uniform is sure to have a lasting effect in fashioning a more sensible standard for dressing for the business girls throughout the country.

Deaths.
There is no denying the fact that thousands of American women drag along day in and day out suffering with these elements peculiar to their sex which make life a burden. If women who suffer from dragging-down pains, inflammatory, ulcerated or catarrhal conditions would only give that greatest of all remedies, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial, they would readily find relief from suffering, as the many letters of commendation constantly being published prove.—Adv.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards' pure and Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated olive-colored tablets.
They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

HEALING RELIEF FOR TORTURING ECZEMA

A. A. Clarke sold hundreds of jars of HOKARA and although Mr. Clarke offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser not one jar has been returned.

While this is a surprise in itself, reflecting the most marvelous thing is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scabs and scales and even bleeding itching have found relief in HOKARA.

No matter where the eczema pimples or other breaking out occurs whether on the face hands legs or body, the application of HOKARA should give quick relief and even the worst or most chronic cases should be cured in a short time.

You can buy a liberal sized jar to day at the very low price of 25c and with every package gets A. A. Clarke's guarantee to refund the money if it is not satisfactory.—Adv.

MORE INTERESTING, IMMENSELY SO, TO WATCH EVENTS MOVE

"Surely Having Some Party," writes Sergeant N. A. Driscoll from France to his Uncle.

We sure have had some party this summer, writes Sergeant N. A. Driscoll of the 17th Field Artillery to his uncle Frank Driscoll of Pittsburg.

The newspapers of course have told you how things are going but it's a heap more interesting to watch the march of events with one's own eyes.

Didn't I make your old heart glad to read the way our doughboys started home toward Berna and he was going to dictate terms of peace in Paris after that last offensive? The only thing offensive about the affair was the smell of those Heines who were too slow on their feet to beat out bullets and remained behind as soldiers. They looked good dead but—oh! sauer kraut smells sweet and lumberlog too by comparison.

"We are on vacation now. Some of us need it more or less. Those dough-boys nearly ran us off our feet trying to keep up with them. Just about the time we would have the battery ready to fire the word would be lumber log march. But by double using a bit we managed to get a shot in once in a while. At one time we had five batteries spitting iron at the boches four being captured batteries. The boys found a heap of fun giving em hell with their own guns and ammunition. Two lads out of our signal battalion brought down a boche plane with one of their anti aircraft guns.

Oh! it's a gay life. Wish they'd send us down to help the Italians. I'd sure like to be with them when they enter Vienna. I'm not so crazy about getting into that damned German country. The better you know the Heines the less use you have for them.
No story about him's too villainous for me to believe.

The arts of weaving and rope and stomping are practiced by some of the lower forms of life notably among centipedes and spiders. The weaver birds of Africa and India which are a species of such construct wonderful nests out of leaves by sewing them together.

RAILROADING IN FRANCE SEEMS STRANGE TO BOY FROM OLD P. & L. E. ROAD

When Private J. C. Newell of Dawson was at home he followed railroading. He was a brakeman in the employ of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad company. Consequently when he went to France his attention was once attracted to the rail roads there. Writing to his parents Mr. and Mrs. James Newell Private Newell who is a member of Company A, 13th Engineers says:
I suppose you remember that letter in the brotherhood magazine about a few things they called rail roads in France. Well it is true the cars are about the size of the small box cars in the States. We have some of the good old U. S. A. cars and engines over here. The French have another system of running trains.
They are run by what they call stationmen instead of train dispatchers.

They have a new system of cutting off cars over the hump. Chain and link couplers are used. A el-low stands at the top with a long pole. He cuts the cars with this pole and lets them slide. They have no car buffers. As all cars do not have buffers they have a small concern that he put on the rail about two car lengths from the other cars or where they want the cars to stop and the wheels slide up on this and into the train. It is a pretty good thing for the kind of car they have here but I would not care to stop one of the 140,000 at home loaded with coke. I am afraid there

MOUNT PLEASANT MAY AGAIN HAVE EXPRESS SERVICE

Local Situation Not Under-

REPLY SOON IS THE PROMISE

Connell instructs Solicitor to Proceed Toward Having Frick Take Company Lease Removing Coal from Under Streets and Alleys of Town

Special to The Courier
MOUNT PLEASANT Oct. 9.—Mount Pleasant may soon have express service again under some arrangement.
A visit of President J. B. Connel of the Board of Trade, Secretary C. F.
Zimmerman and Burgess S. Stevens to Pittsburgh elicited the information that the Railroad Administration did not thoroughly understand the situation here. The representative there agreed to take the matter up with the proper authorities and let the Board of Trade have a decision within a few days.

Intimation Sought.

At the meeting of council Monday evening the borough solicitor was instructed to institute proceedings against the H. C. Frick Coke company to restrain that corporation from removing coal from under streets and alleys.

The Light and Water committee reported having visited the water supply system at Windber and with being impressed with it. Windber is a gravity system. The committee will next visit a town supplied by artesian water and will then submit a written report and recommendation to council.

Burgess S. P. Stevens turned over a check for $231 for the months receipts.

Sewers Needed.

It is very necessary that all Red Cross units sew. Investigation has proved that very rarely ever more than 12 ladies gathered together at one time so that they could have these also the ingathering.

lowing are being made by the best known Pennsylvanian men and women of Ten-Herbs—the new health remedy—and voluntarily tell of their relief in the hope that other may be aided and restored to health.

Ten-Herbs is now being taken by hundreds of local people many of results they have derived from its use in the treatment of stomach, liver and kidney troubles.

One of the many signed testimonials received is that of Mr. H. J. Swannhart who resides at No. 7508 Ormand street Swissvale Pa. and is a well known carpenter and contractor whose work is of the highest order. He stated:

For the past seven years I have had trouble with my stomach. I was bloated with gas and terrible indigestion and no appetite whatever. My food always distressed me. I had palpitation of the heart was short of breath. I could not sleep at night and would get up in the morning as tired as if I had never been to bed. My liver was torpid and sluggish and I was always constipated. I could never get any medicine to relieve this trouble until I started to take Ten-Herbs. It has relieved my stomach trouble. I have no more gas in my system and am able to sleep fine at night. I feel a hundred per cent better.

Ten-Herbs is sold in Connelville at

Strong, Forceful Men With Plenty of Iron In Their Blood—

These Are the Ones With the Power and Energy To Win

Many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning, because they don't back up their mental victory with the physical strength and energy which come from having plenty of iron in the blood, says Dr.
James Francis Sullivan, former physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.) New York and the Westchester County Hospital. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that vital force, that stamina and strength of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. To help make strong, keen red blooded Americans here is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron. It often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous run down people in two weeks' time.
Nuxated Iron is now being used by over three million people annually including such men as (Hon.) Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury and ex-Governor of Iowa, former United States Senator and Vice Presidential nominee Charles A. Towne, General John L. Clem (retired) the drummer boy of South who was sergeant in the U. S. Army when only twelve years of age, also United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington and others.

MANUFACTURERS NOTE: Nuxated Iron from what is known as the purest iron ore is not a secret remedy but a well known and a drugs everywhere. Unlike the older iron preparations, it is easily absorbed, does not injure the teeth, is not black nor taste like iron. The manufacturers guarantee a cure of every iron deficiency, or return your money. It is sold by all good druggists.

In response to a request for definite information concerning Spanish influenza, Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the U. S. Public Health Service has authorized the following official interview.

What is Spanish Influenza? Is it something new? Does it come from Spain?

"The disease now occurring in this country and called 'Spanish Influenza' resembles a very contagious kind of cold accompanied by fever, pains in the head eyes ears, back or other parts of the body and a feeling of severe sickness. In most of the cases the symptoms disappear after three or four days, the patient then rapidly recovering. Some of the patients however develop pneumonia or inflammation of the ear or meningitis, and many of these complicated cases die. Whether this so-called 'Spanish Influenza' is identical with the epidemics of influenza of earlier years is not yet known.

"Epidemics of influenza have visited this country since 1847. It is interesting to know that this first epidemic was brought here from Valencia Spain. Since that time there have been numerous epidemics of the disease. In 1889 and 1890 an epidemic of influenza, starting somewhere in the Orient, spread first to Russia and thence over practically the entire civilized world. Three years later there was another flare-up of the disease.
Both times the epidemic spread widely over the United States.

Although the present epidemic is called Spanish influenza there is no reason to believe that it originated in Spain. Some writers who have studied the question believe that the epidemic came from the Orient and they call attention to the fact that the Germans saw the disease as occurring along the eastern front in the summer and fall of 1917."

How can 'Spanish Influenza' be recognized?

There is as yet no certain way in which a single case of Spanish influenza can be recognized. On the other hand recognition is easy where there is a group of cases. In contrast to the outbreaks of ordinary coughs and colds which usually occur in the cold months epidemics of influenza may occur at any season of the year.
Thus the present epidemic raged most intensely in Europe in May June and July. Moreover in the case of ordinary colds the general symptoms (fever, pain, depression) are by no means as severe or as sudden in their onset as they are in influenza. Finally, ordinary colds do not spread through the community so rapidly or so extensively as does influenza.

"In most cases a person taken sick with influenza feels sick rather than dies. He feels weak, has pains in the eyes, ears, head or back, and may be sore all over. Many patients feel dizzy some vomit. Most of the patients complain of feeling chilly and with this comes a fever in which the temperature rises to 100 to 104. In most cases the pulse remains relatively slow.

"In appearance one is struck by the fact that the patient looks sick. His eyes and the inner side of his eyelids may be slightly bloodshot or congested as the doctors say. There may be running from the nose or there may be some cough. These signs of a cold may not be marked nevertheless the patient looks and feels very sick.

In addition to the appearance and the symptoms as already described examination of the patient's blood may aid the physician in recognizing 'Spanish influenza' for it has been found that in this disease the number of white corpuscles shows little or no increase above the normal. It is possible that the laboratory investigations now being made through the National Research Council and the Unit d States Hygienic Laboratory will furnish a more certain way in which individual cases of this disease can be recognized."

What is the course of the disease?
Do people die of it?

"Ordinarily the fever lasts from three to four days and the patient recovers. But while the proportion of deaths in the present epidemic has generally been low in some places the outbreak has been severe and deaths have been numerous. When death occurs it is usually the result of a complication.

What causes the disease and how is it spread?

Bacteriologists who have studied influenza epidemics in the past have found in many of the cases a very small rod shaped germ called, after its discoverer Pfeiffer's bacillus. In other cases of apparently the same kind of disease there were found pneumococci.
Still others have been caused by strepto-cocci and by others germs with long names.

No matter what particular kind of germ causes the epidemic it is now believed that influenza is always spread from person to person, the germs being carried with the air along with the very small droplets of mucus, expelled by coughing or sneezing, forceful talking and the like by one who already has the germs of the disease. They may also be carried about in the air in the form of dust coming from dried mucus from coughing and sneezing or from careless people who spit on the floor and on the sidewalk.
As in most other catching diseases a person who has only a mild attack of the disease himself may give a very severe attack to others.

What should be done by those who catch the disease?

"It is very important that every person who becomes sick with influenza should go home at once and go to bed.
This will help keep away dangerous complications and will at the same time keep the patient from scattering the disease far and wide. It is highly desirable that no one be allowed to sleep in the same room with the patient. In fact no one but the nurse should be allowed in the room.

If there is cough and sputum or running of the eyes and nose care should be taken that all such discharges are collected on bits of gauze or rag or paper napkins and burned.
If the patient complains of fever and headache he should be given water to drink, a cold compress to the forehead and a light sponge. Only such medicine should be given as is prescribed by the doctor. It is foolish to ask the druggist to prescribe and may be dangerous to take the so-called safe and harmless remedies advertised by patent medicine manufacturers.

"If the patient is so situated that he can be attended only by some one who must also look after others in the family it is advisable that such attendant wear a wrapper, a gown or gown over the ordinary house clothes while in the sick room and slip this off when leaving to look after the others.

Nurses and attendants will do well to guard against bathing in dangerous disease germs by wearing a simple fold of gauze or mask while near the patient.

Will a person who has had influenza before catch the disease again?

It is well known that an attack of measles or scarlet fever or smallpox usually protects a person against an other attack of the same disease. This appears not to be true of Spanish influenza. According to newspaper reports the King of Spain suffered an attack of influenza during the epidemic thirty years ago and was again stricken during the recent outbreak in Spain.

How can one guard against influenza?

In guarding against disease of all kinds it is important that the body be kept strong and able to fight off diseases. This can be done by having a proper proportion of work play and rest, by keeping the body well clothed and by eating suitable food.

Some and proper selected food in connection with diet it is well to remember that milk is one of the best all-around foods obtainable for adults as well as children. So far as influenza is concerned health authorities everywhere recognize the very close relation between its spread and overcrowded houses. While it is not always possible especially in times like the present to avoid such overcrowding people should consider the health danger and make every effort to reduce the home overcrowding to a minimum. The value of fresh air through open windows cannot be over emphasized.

"When crowding is unavoidable as in street cars care should be taken to keep the face so turned as not to in-

A Romance of the Fighting on the Battlefields of

VICTOR ROUSSEAU

At nightfall Mark was sitting in his cell. He had eaten, he had composed himself to meet his end according to the traditions of his caste and race; but he could not meet it calmly. He had deliberately flung everything away; he had let Kellerman goad him to madness; he was going to die without even the soldier's satisfaction of duty honorably done. And he could not compose himself.

Suddenly he heard the outer gate of the prison click; then came the sound of voices, footsteps, a woman's swishing skirt; Eleanor and Colonel Howard stood at the barred entrance with the guard.

Mark rose from his bed and stood staring at them; he could hardly believe them real. The guard unlocked the door of the cell. Eleanor struck back against the corner of the doorway, her knees to her lips, her face chalky white. Suddenly she started forward. The Colonel whispered a word, she brushed him aside as if she had not heard him. Her arm sought Mark's neck and found it. She pressed her lips to his.

"Captain Mark! Dear Captain Mark!" she sobbed.

And, holding her closely to him, and forgetting Howard's presence and everything else, Mark found his peace.

Colonel Howard was trying to calm her, to assuage her frantic grief. At last he persuaded her to sit down. He took Mark by the arm as if he were a child, and placed him beside her.

"Mark, my dear boy—Mark, I heard of it only five minutes ago," he said. "I had to spend the night here, and Eleanor had got leave to meet me. I've just learned the outlines of it. I'm trying to get the General. Yes, yes, I know he refused this morning, but he didn't know. I'm only going to ask for a respite till I can see him personally. It will come out all right. Now tell me, Mark, what happened? How did Kellerman meet you? Why did you strike him? I don't ask about the charge of cowardice, because that isn't worth speaking about. I'll settle that with the General—I haven't forgotten Santiago. But about that blow, Mark—how did it all happen? Tell me exactly, so that I—"

It was unlike the old Colonel to gabble so fast. Perhaps he was afraid of breaking down.

"Can't tell the General. Now begin, Mark. Tell me from the beginning."

But Mark did not open his lips. And before Colonel Howard could resume Eleanor had sprung up and faced Mark eagerly.

"Now, Captain Mark, listen! If you've never listened to me before, listen now!" she cried. "I know you aren't going to tell the Colonel. It's

"He sent three of us out to rescue a wounded man unnecessarily," said Mark loudly.

He saw a spasm pass over Howard's face. This was worse than Howard could have believed. The Colonel was shaken; his faith was strong, but he was one of those who accept the obvious.

"Listen, Captain Mark!" said Eleanor, speaking as if to a baby. "That isn't what you wanted to say. You had no thought of criticizing your superior officer, even if you thought him wrong. That isn't what you meant. Perhaps he'll tell me, father! Stand back a little. Now, whisper it, Captain Mark!"

But in the shelter of Eleanor's arms Mark felt altogether at peace. What did it matter, all this of long ago?

"Are you going to marry Kellerman, Eleanor?" he asked.

Very softly, in the obscurity, he felt her shake her head. And the action had precisely the opposite effect of what Eleanor had intended.

For nothing mattered any more, nothing at all. He couldn't find excuses. Mark Wallace had never excused himself in his life.

Eleanor drew herself out of his arms and looked at him. "He looked from her face to the Colonel's. Why were they worrying him? How could he hope to save his life by going into the obscure details and explanations that they required of him?"

And what a long rigmarole, beginning back in the war department! Mark could not string a case together; his mind was not constructed in that fashion.

Eleanor laid her hand on his arm. "Captain Mark—don't you see that every moment is torture to us?" she asked.

There was a terrible intensity in her tone, as if she were holding herself rigidly in restraint, for fear that she would fall should she yield to her emotion.

"I struck him," stammered Mark. "I told you why. I thought he was wrong to risk those lives—"

The look upon each face seemed to be frozen there; it was as if their lives had not Mark's, hung upon his words.

Suddenly a shriek pierced the sky, cutting off Mark's speech, and a shell burst somewhere by with a shattering detonation, followed by the dull boom of a distant gun. The Colonel started, and then resumed his gaze.

It seemed to Mark as if that was an eternity of torture. He struggled in his mind desperately to find words to say when the noise subsided.

But there came a stunning sound that seemed to split his ear-drums. He fell forward, and felt as if some one had lifted him; looked out into darkness, sought Eleanor and knew nothing.

CHAPTER XV.

When he slowly grew conscious it was with the glad realization that he had found her. He felt her hands, supple and warm, binding a bandage round his arm. He opened his eyes to see her face bent over his. And it was dawn.

Vague cries rang in his ears, distant cries, bleeding, surging, swelling and dying down, but never ceasing. The rattle of small-arms was continuous, and punctuated by the loud thud of guns.

He was lying amid a heap of debris that had been the village jail. Not far away he saw the Colonel sitting with eyes closed, propped up against the fragments of a wall, a blood-stained bandage round his head.

"Thank God!" cried Eleanor. "You have been unconscious so long, Captain Mark! And the Colonel is badly hurt. I saw the Red Cross wagon pass and cried, but they could not hear me."

All round them the guns were booming, all round them they saw khaki-clad Americans swarming over the fields, and yet the village seemed deserted. They were alone in a little oasis of calm amid the tumult.

"What are we to do?" cried the girl. "Can you walk? Try to stand on your feet. Let me help you. We must get the Colonel somewhere."

The question on Mark's lips died away as there came the bow of a heavy shell, followed by a stunning impact. A column of broken bricks spouted into the air at the end of the street, dissolving into a cloud of dust. An internal, and again there came a missile from the monster gun. A house in the next street went down like cardboard.

It was the threatened attack on the American lines. The enemy was in force somewhere across the fields, the reserves were rushing up to repel them.

Mark staggered to his feet and found that he could stand. His arm ached under the bandage, but it was not broken. Probably a splinter had struck him. He made his way toward the Colonel, who eyed him vacantly as he approached.

"Take Eleanor to safety and leave me, Mark," he said, in a choking voice.

"I'll take you both, sir. This can't last long. Our men will be in the village in a few minutes. Or an ambulance will pass."

Mark put his hands beneath the Colonel's arms and tried to lift him. As the Colonel tried to stand he collapsed forward in Mark's arms. He looked at Mark pitiously.

COAL PRODUCTION IN 1917 GAINED 10, COKE 2 PER CENT

BY-PRODUCT 40.4 PER CENT

Of Total Coke, or a Gain of 5.4 Per Cent; Beehive Decreased 396,676 Tons From Record in 1916; Loss Due to Irregularity in Operation.

The production of bituminous coal in 1917 was 551,790,568 net tons, an increase over 1916 of 49,270,881 tons, or nearly 10 per cent, according to C. E. Leshner, of the United States Geological Survey.

The production of Pennsylvania anthracite in 1917 established a new high record of 99,611,311 net tons (88,939,117 gross tons), exceeding that in 1916 by 12,033,318 net tons, or nearly 14 per cent, and surpassing the previous record of 91,534,922 net tons in 1912. With the exception of West Virginia all the large coal-producing states recorded increases, the only decreases having been in West Virginia (0.02 per cent), Oregon, South Dakota and Georgia.

The production of coke in 1917 was 55,606,828 tons, an increase compared with 1916 of 1,073,243 tons, or 2.0 per cent. The output of by-product coke increased from 19,069,361 tons in 1916 to 22,459,350 tons in 1917 and represented 40.4 per cent of the total in 1917 against 35 per cent of the total in 1916. The production of beehive coke decreased 396,676 tons from 35,464,224 tons in 1916 to 35,067,548 tons in 1917. The number of active by-product ovens increased from 5,607 in 1916 to 7,298 in 1917, and of beehive ovens from 65,605 to 63,687, but the irregularity of operation of beehive ovens in 1917, due principally to lack of railroad cars, reduced the average production per oven. Nearly all the decrease in production of beehive coke was in Pennsylvania although in the last month decreases were recorded in Georgia and Kentucky. The production of by-product coke decreased slightly in Illinois, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, and Washington and increased notably in New Jersey, Ohio, and West Virginia.

The number of men engaged in producing bituminous coal increased from 561,102 in 1916 to 603,143 in 1917, and the number producing anthracite decreased from 159,369 in 1916 to 151,174 in 1917. However, the number of men employed underground in the production of bituminous coal increased from 474,241 in 1916 to 498,185 in 1917, a gain of but 5 per cent compared with a gain of 20.8 per cent in surface employees. In the anthracite regions the number of underground employees decreased 5.8 per cent, but the surface employees increased 2.4 per cent. In both branches of the coal-mining industry there was a relatively large gain in the number of men employed on the surface which is significant when it is realized that it is the underground worker who actually produces the coal and who is the more skilled workman.

The average number of days worked in both bituminous coal fields and anthracite mines was the highest recorded—243 in the bituminous field and 235 in the anthracite.

It is interesting to note that the preliminary estimate of the production of bituminous coal, published by the Geological Survey, in the first week of January, 1918, ($41,000,000 net tons), was low, because it was based on the number of carloads of coal loaded at the mines, whereas the average loading per car had increased nearly 4 per cent during the year, a fact not discovered until several months after the estimate was made.

New Pleurisy Treatment.
Doctor Auld tells in the British Medical Journal of a chill and fever resembling malaria which he brought on by administering a platinum compound, and which upon subsiding left the patient in a markedly improved condition. He tried the treatment in cases of pleurisy with good result. It is especially adapted to sluggish cases of localized infection with low fever.

Opening Number Is By Plymouth Singing Company on October 18.

COURSE CLOSES MARCH 14

Musical Guardsmen Only Attraction
Playing a Return Date; Names Familiar to the Public Appear in the List of Others, Nine All Told.

An excellent entertainment course to be given this winter under the auspices of the Conneltsville high school has been arranged and the first number is slated to be given Friday evening October 18. There are nine numbers on the course this year—one more than was given during the past season.

Every entertainment will be given on a Friday evening. The numbers have been selected with care and there are different entertainment lectures, and humorists. The advance notices indicate the course this year will be one of the best ever staged.

There will be no increase in the price, a fourth additional number has been added. The season tickets will be placed on sale this week at $2 which can later be exchanged for reserved seat tickets.

The first number will be The Plymouth Singing Party composed of five experienced artists presenting a unique and entirely original program in three parts.

A week later Strickland W. Gilliam considers America's foremost humorist will be here. The humorist has been in this city before and is considered one of the best numbers of the course.

The third entertainer will be John B. Ratte impersonator who has made a big success on Redpath Chautauqua circuits.

The Boston Opera company will appear here on November 22. The company consists of a personnel such as has rarely been assembled except in larger cities and distinctive musical center.

Professor Montreville M. Wood scientist, will be here on November 29. He will give demonstration lectures on the microscope, monocular car and the ultra violet rays assisted by his daughter Miss Allene M. Wood. The number will be one of the most interesting of the entire course.

The entertainments will be discontinued after November 29 until January 24 on account of the Christmas holidays. On January 2, however, the sixth number V. S. Watkins interpreter will be here. His achievements have won for him the title of "master interpreter."

The following Friday January 31 the Schumann quintet composed of five accomplished musicians will carry out an interesting program.

The only return engagement granted to any entertainment appearing here last season was to the Musical Guardsmen who will again present a program on February 7. The "Guardsmen" pleased greatly last season and there was a demand for their return.

The last and ninth number will be a lecture by Rev. Samuel James Cadman D. D. to be given on March 14.

Which Kind of Parlor?

The building trade today is largely using methods in use in the days of the Pharaohs, said the principal architect of the office of works, at the Royal Sanitary Institute in England recently. "The parlor question," he went on, "is a difficult one. Some people prefer one large, pleasant room to a poky living room and small parlor. Others urge that the parlor is necessary for children to do their lessons in, to accommodate the piano and household goods, and also the coffin in the event of a death in the family."

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well As Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin—a natural rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddr complexions instead of the multitudes of nerve wrecks, rundown brain fags and pessimists we should see a virile optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach liver and kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation—Adx.

Through Hell to Berlin!

That is what our boys are headed for.

They are not going to stop till it's over "over there" and that means till they get to Berlin.

They are going through Hell to get there but they are not afraid.

You and I can help to make their task lighter, to reduce the number of days necessary for them to get to Berlin, to lessen the Hell through which they have to pass.

And the way we can do this is to buy LIBERTY BONDS.

Remember the boys are going through Hell for you.
